A Document Management Solution

Is the majority of your organization's information widely accessible on a concurrent basis? If your company is like the majority of organizations, then some of your most important information is on paper. Freedom Imaging Systems can assist with putting that information 'on-line', with our Record Image Capture And Retrieval (RICAR) software suite. Allow your critical business information to be shared and utilized by many people in many places – right from their desktop.

Since 1995, Freedom's Document Imaging and Workflow software has set-up organizations of all sizes throughout North America, including Fortune 500 and 1000 companies, who use our system to image, archive and electronically process over 100 million records annually.

Document Imaging provides the benefits of: sharing files easily, fast desktop retrieval, flexible indexing, saving space, improved security, no lost or misplaced files and quick disaster recovery. Once documents are digitalized, Freedom's Workflow technology can be utilized to enable automation of your organization's business processes and management. Freedom's Workflow can be used to replace and improve the coordination, control and monitoring of the sequence of tasks required to complete a paper-based business process. Many critical documents and business processes remain paper-based; that paper consumes substantial resources (both money and time) to generate, move and track.

Freedom's RICAR solution is a Turn-Key Document Management System inclusive of system engineering, hardware, software, installation, training, and support that has the ability to:

- Scan from wherever you have adequate bandwidth (distributed or remote scanning).
- Archive and manage the system from any location.
- Implement a centralized or decentralized architecture.
- Anywhere access to documents.
- Contemporary Security Features.

Let your organization get on the Cutting Edge, but stay clear of the Bleeding Edge. We connect organizations across the country and can comfortably connect your organization across the world.
